

If time travel were possible, I'd like to visit the year 1978. I chose 1978 because I'd really like to see my favorite movie Halloween in a movie theater with a crowd of people who haven't seen it before. I'm pretty sure Star Wars would also still be in the theaters, and that would be cool to see, too. I also appreciate the music of 1978. At the time, Van Halen was just starting out as a band, and on July 1 they played the Texxas Music Jam along with Aerosmith, ARS, Journey, Eddie Money and others. That would have been a great day of music. The third reason I chose 1978 is because I just love the cars of the 60's and 70's. Walking along a street littered with cars of the day would be like attending a vintage car show that stretched on for miles and miles. I know time travel isn't possible, but I'd sure like to enjoy the movies, music, and cars of 1978.
